Part 1. Questions 1-10

Read the following text and match the words (Numbers 1 to 10) with their definitions (letters a to j). (10 marks)

SHOPPING IS GREAT IN LONDON!

When I visit London one of my favourite things to do is shopping! I really enjoy searching for a bargain in the sales and buying something new to wear on a Saturday night. I also like doing window-shopping. It's nice and it doesn't cost a penny! Sometimes I spend hours just walking around a market and having a chat with my friends.

London is the shopping capital of the world. Every year millions of overseas visitors shop here. But what makes shopping here so great?

There are lots of different places to go shopping in London.

Oxford Street

If you're looking for 'high street' shops - the kind of shops you find in most towns in the U.K., you can go to Oxford Street, but be careful, it gets too busy sometimes. If you want a more relaxing shopping experience, go to Covent Garden. There, you can have a cappuccino, and watch some street theatre at the same time.

London's Oxford Street is retail heaven for a quick retail therapy. It's got over 2 kilometres of shops to choose from.

At Harrods

Some people like shopping in department stores. The most famous one in London is 'Harrods' in Knightsbridge. It's old-fashioned. And the sort of place your grandparents would shop. Harrods is famous for upmarket shopping. This is where the rich and famous come to buy. The ultimate in luxury! Even Royalty shop here. If you are lucky, you might see some celebrities. The best of all the big department stores is 'Selfridges' in Oxford Street, it's a shoppers' paradise.

At Harvey Nichols

But just down the road is 'Harvey Nics', much more 'up-to-the-minute', but not cheap. Harvey Nichols is a great place for designer fashion.

If you like shopping all under one roof, then there are big shopping centres all over London.

Although great shopping isn't just about big shops. Smaller shops can offer something special too.

Tucked away in the heart of Piccadilly is a great shopping gem. Lock's sell that must-have in gentlemen's fashion: the hat! Lock's opened in London in 1679. Their hats can be seen across the world.

You can't miss Camden Street markets. It's busy, exciting, trendy, and there are lots of bargains! You can buy cheap jeans and cool second-hand clothes in the morning and then get a tattoo and a body piercing later on! And when you get tired of shopping, you can get some Chinese food for £2 or £3, sit by the canal and drink a coke.

If Camden is not cultured enough, you might prefer a day to Greenwich - a world heritage site. This is a much more relaxing day out. You can have a stroll round the market and shops, and then take in a bit of London's history - it was the birthplace of Queen Mary and Elizabeth I.

LOVELEE DESIGNS

This week, we look at the history of Lovelee Designs.

Lovelee Designs is now a successful company and one of the best-known names in online shopping. Last year, the company made a profit of 500.000 and sold over 10.000 bags.

The company started as a hobby business when Patricia Lee couldn't find a bag that she wanted and she made her own. Friends asked her where she had bought it. When they found out that she had made it herself, they asked Patricia to make bags for them. She decided to turn her garage into a workroom and launched Lovelee Designs in 2013.

The company went from strength to strength and now employs 50 people. Two years ago, Patricia moved the operation of her business to a unit in the business park in her town.

Most of the company's business comes from online orders, but Patricia started going to craft fairs five years ago. She sold out of bags at the first fair, so she took on 5 extra sewing machinists. The company makes over hundred bags a week and its turnover for 2017 was more than 1,2 million.
